Most children believe they will travel to space

Do you think you will go to space one day? A recent study found that more than half of children (57%) aged 4 to 7 think they'll travel to space in their lifetime. A fifth (19%) even believe humans will live on another planet within the next 10 years! When asked where they'd like to live if given the chance, many chose Mars as their top pick. If you had the chance to live on a new world, would you?

Thank a Teacher Day

Wednesday 19th June is national Thank a Teacher Day, a day dedicated to showing appreciation and gratitude for the amazing work that teachers do! This celebration is a fantastic reminder of just how important teachers are in supporting us to grow and learn. Here are some things you could do to thank your teacher - make a thank you card, write a note, draw a picture or share your favourite memory with them!

NEW ZEALAND Tree of the Year

In New Zealand, a special tree has won the title of Tree of the Year for 2024. It's nicknamed The Walking Tree because its trunks look like legs, making it seem like it's taking a stroll. The tree is a Metrosideros robusta, commonly known as a New Zealand Christmas tree!

Hairy hogs to help boost butterfly numbers

Conservationists have teamed up with some unusual hairy helpers to save a rare butterfly in the UK. Hairy Hungarian hogs, also known as Mangalitsa pigs, are part of a new project at a National Trust site in Devon. The special pigs will act as "living lawnmowers". Their job is to create just the right environment for the High Brown Fritillary butterfly to thrive. It's a unique plan to protect these beautiful butterflies in their natural habitat!

Old gaming pieces found in medieval castle

Archaeologists in Rottenburg, Germany, have unearthed medieval game pieces once played with by German nobles. These ancient treasures were used for games similar to chess, that were popular in the 12th and 13th centuries. The game pieces are made of bone and were found at a site believed to be a medieval castle. Archaeologists are excited about this find because it helps them to learn more about daily life and entertainment in the Middle Ages.
